

Baby.
One summer morning baby came,
To lay upon my breast;
I was a little less than
I have an angel guest.
That summer-time was glad and gay
With baby's laugh and glee;
The dearest thing in all the world
My darling was to me.
But when the frost-wind touched the flowers,
Like them she dropped away,
And died within my folding arms
One sad and autumn day.
We made her little grave
Close by the garden-walk;
It seemed that some time she would wake,
And for her mother call.
I planted rose and briar,
Beneath her grave to grow;
And roses there, and learned
Their little ones to sing.
It is a sacred spot to me,
That grave so green and low;
Ah! I have never been far away
From baby's grave, I know.

Park, Garden and Household.
INK STAINS.—Ink stains may be removed from mahogany by touching them with a feather dipped in a mixture composed of a few drops of nitre and a teaspoonful of water. To prevent a white mark being left, the spot must be rubbed with a cloth wet in cold water the moment the ink has disappeared.
BUTTER, CHEESE AND MILK.—Fifteen quarts of milk are required to make a pound of butter, and ten quarts a pound of cheese, and butter twelve cents a pound and cheese twenty cents, it is more profitable to make butter; but yielding a fraction over one and a half cents a quart, and cheese a fraction less than one and a quarter cents.

MOSS IN PASTURES OR MEADOWS.—This is always found on poor knolls or wet places. The remedy is to harrow well, and spread a load of manure and a little lime. In the second plow, drain off the water, and harrow and spread lime or plaster, salt or ashes. Get rid of the water, strengthen the soil, and moss will be no further trouble.

VERY RICH FRUITERS may be made by simply rolling the plain dough (after it has risen of course) and cutting and drying as doughnuts. They have an excellent sirup or sauce. By putting a lump of risen dough into a pudding bag, tying, leaving room to swell, put into a pot of boiling water, and boiling an hour or more, according to size, you have an excellent plain pudding, but it should be eaten with rich sauce.

BORERS IN APPLE TREES.—E. F. D. asks Health & Home, if there is any way to prevent borers from entering apple trees. The best plan is to wrap the trunk of the tree with tarred roofing paper. A piece a foot or more wide is wrapped around the tree, the lower edge of the paper extending just below the surface of the soil. Below this is applied the tarred paper, and the whole is secured by a cord that borers have already entered. Should any be found they must be probed out or cut out.

SHELTER THE STOCK.—The season has arrived when it is imperative to permit a beast to stay out of doors for a single night. A sense of justice to these animals, which exist only for our use, if he does not consult his own interest, should compel him to immediately resort to put every stable and shed on the farm into proper condition, to fasten all loose boards, close all open windows, and make his stock snug and comfortable. There's money in it if he will find it. Even his hens will lay better if kept warm.

FEED FOR CATTLE AND HORSES.—A thrifty animal will consume about three per cent of its live-weight in fodder daily. For a cow of 800 pounds, twenty-four pounds of hay should be provided. But it has been abundantly proved that when this hay is cut, wetted, and mixed with the allowance of meal (two to four quarts) eighteen pounds daily is ample to keep an ordinary cow in good condition. The difference then is the amount saved, which is equal to one fourth. This represents the gain in digestibility of the food by the method of preparation. In practice the gain is greater, because no waste can occur in using cut feed, while in using long hay much is always wasted.

BABIES IN CHINA.—One of the first things impressing a traveler in China, says James Brooks, is the babies, the countless babies. Girl babies, however, also for the poor tribes are deemed rather curses than blessings, more especially if you have too many of them—such curses, that often the little lasses are tumbled away to perish, and the boys are kept, all the junk we passed, or saw, were all or less filled with babies—naked babies mixed up with the cocks, and hens, and dogs, and kittens. Fathers were so often fondling them as the mothers, that nobody else could eat, they are so bad—with onions, onions, onions innumerable. Indeed, the whole population hereabout seems saturated with onions and opium.

LITIGATION.—A case illustrating litigation has just been decided in a Massachusetts court. Four years ago two ladies were riding with about a dozen others in a four-horse coach, on a picnic excursion in Ashfield, when a defective bridge gave way and precipitated the team, with the passengers, some twelve feet into the stream below. Both ladies were injured. The defect in the bridge and the liability of the town seemed undoubted. One of the ladies offered to settle for $1,500, but the selectmen refused. The matter went to court, and now after four years of litigation the town has paid the sum of $16,135, and must besides pay a large bill of costs for their own witnesses.

THE RUSSIAN ARMY.—A despatch from London says: The reorganization of the Russian army raises the total field and landwehr forces for 1,500,000 men, and 51,000 officers. The number of Cossacks not included. There is created, further, a reserve force of 750,000 men and 55,000 officers. The new artillery adds 1,000 pieces to the old force. This enormous change in the military forces of Russia is masked under the creation of landwehr, called local forces, which nominally leaves the old army as it was.

EXAGGERATION.—X., who is given to exaggeration, made a statement one evening at the table which was so fabulous that he felt himself that he had gone too far. Turning to one of the guests who seemed to be smiling slightly, he said:

"You don't believe that?"

"Oh, yes," replied the other, "I believe it because you say it, but I should not have believed it if I had said it myself."

The Dry Goods Market.

In all departments of domestic goods, says the New York Independent, prices have continued firm, though the bulk of the stock has not been active; but the situation of affairs is well understood by both manufacturers and jobbers, and there does not appear to be any extraordinary reduction of prices, except in some of the undesirable styles of prints.

In unbleached sheetings and shirtings the demand for standards has been lagging for some time, and the activity for export. The light weights are in deficient supply. Prices remain steady and unchanged.

In bleached sheetings and shirtings there is an increased stock in first hands of the best grades of standards, while of the inferior makes there is a short supply. But prices of all descriptions are steady and unchanged.

Printing cloths are a shade lower, with less firmness in the market. Some considerable sales of 64 standards for immediate delivery are reported at 8 1/2 cents.

In prints there is but a moderate demand. With an increase of price and an accumulation in first hands of the less desirable styles, a diminishing business may be looked for until some reduction shall stimulate purchases.

Ginghams are in the usual demand of the season; but the sales are moderate and prices unchanged.

Cotton flannels are selling steadily, but the demand does not vary essentially from what is usual at this season. Prices are steady and unchanged.

Flannel shirts are in demand, and the fact of there being a limited stock in first hands; but the sales are not large. Rolled jacconets are in good supply, and prices continue firm with moderate sales.

Silicas are comparatively inactive, and the supply in first hands is large; but prices continue firm and unchanged.

The Building Societies of England.

These societies have become to be an important factor in the labor reform movement, and are closely identified with the improved industrial life of the kingdom. In spite of aristocratic opposition, a middle class is constantly being formed, and the strength, perhaps the salvation of the nation. The value of the dwellings which, through these societies, have been erected, is a fact which will be recognized by the property of workingmen, and the social conditions which would be an occasion for sympathy with the sufferers; of resignation on their part to the will of the Most High, and of the rejoicing to the many who have been more favored.

I therefore recommend that on Thursday, the 30th day of November next, the people meet in their respective places of worship, and there make the usual acknowledgments to Almighty God for the blessings he has conferred upon them for their merciful exemption from evils, and invoke His protection and kindness for their less fortunate brethren, whom, in His wisdom, he has deemed it best to chastise. In faith whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and caused the seal of the United States to be affixed. Done at the City of Washington, this 28th day of October, in the year of our Lord, 1871, and of the independence of the United States the ninety-third.

By the President, U. S. GRANT.

HAMILTON, Sec'y of State.

"There was a frog who lived in a spring. His catches were such that he could not sing." Poor unfortunate Batschian! In what a plight he must have been. And yet his misfortune was one that befell sinners. Many a one has fallen into the same snare. If "genus homo" is utterly spoiled by "the head" or on the lungs, or both combined. For the above-named disease is a cruel one, and any remedy was ever devised; but we rejoice to know that all human singers may keep their heads clear and their throats in tune by a timely use of Dr. Squire's Catarrh Remedy, and Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, both of which are sold by druggists.

They are not a fancy drug. These Stomach Bitters have been used for years and other remedies to testify to its virtue as a purgative and a remedy. They are spread over the whole country; they are easy to take and pleasant to use, and, notwithstanding its vast popularity, there are many men and women who are continually exposed to the tremendous danger, against which it is a sure protection, who, either through ignorance or indifference neglect to seize the opportunity to cure and means of prevention, which they have only to reach their hands to obtain.
